

FROM SOUTHERNERS FROM THE PARADE

Confederate Veterans Not Allowed in Line of March.

MAKES EXPLANATION.

Authority For Invitation—Men in Gray Express Best Feeling To G. A. R.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Enforcement of an order excluding women and civilians from the 47th annual Grand Army of the Republic parade yesterday prevented the N. B. West Camp of United Confederate Veterans from participating in the parade. Clad in their gray uniforms, the Southerners were preparing to march in the line of march with Forsyth Post, No. 15, Toledo, O., when the order was made public.

An invitation to join in the parade had been tendered to Col. I. T. Dickinson, commander of the Forsyth Post, by Colonel Henry N. Hanson, commander of the Forsyth Post. As the Confederate veterans passed along the line of soldiers in blue to the location of the Forsyth Post, they were greeted with cheers by the Union veterans. Just when they were about to take their places, Colonel Dickinson informed Colonel Hanson that the commander of the department of Ohio, Colonel W. R. Warnock, had been instructed to bar every one from the parade except Union veterans. Colonel Hanson expressed deep regret over the incident. The Confederate veterans also appeared disappointed, but as they marched quickly back to their headquarters they were given another ovation by the Union veterans.

In a statement last night, Colonel Dickinson said: "We regretted the incident very much, but I believe our comrades, and especially those in the Forsyth Post, were even more disappointed. We hold no ill feeling toward the rank and file of the boys in blue. The boys in blue are with us now, and we are with them and them. To show that there is no ill feeling against any of them, we are tendering an invitation to visit our camp tonight. This invitation is to the rank and file of the boys in blue."

KIDNAPPED HER SON.

Woman Captured, Pleads on Knees For Child.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 18.—Enticing her son from his father's house at Staunton in an auto, Mrs. Lena Nichols, a Baltimore department store detective, Tuesday created a sensation here. She made a 12-mile drive to Basic City to board a through train for Baltimore, but was captured by the local police.

The kidnapped child is her own son, the boy having been in the custody of his father, C. S. Wilhelm, of this city, since his father obtained a divorce three years ago. The woman, now married to P. S. Nichols, of West Biddle street, Baltimore, when Mrs. Nichols was given a charge of kidnapping, broke down and on her knees begged the court to give her the boy, whom she had raised since infancy. The charges against her were dismissed, the divorce decree having no provision for the custody of the child, the law accepting both mother and father in its definition of a kidnapper.

The mother had instituted habeas corpus proceedings for the possession of the boy, and the matter will probably be decided this afternoon.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A suffragette "arson squad" early yesterday tried to burn down Pembury Place, the historic fourteenth century country seat of Lord D. Lisie and Dudley at Tunbridge, Kent.

Former Congressman Samuel Dibble, of Orangeburg, S. C., died at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Mount Hope Retreat, Md., where he had been since the early part of August. From 1883 to 1891 Mr. Dibble was a member of Congress from the Columbia district in South Carolina. His place is now held by Representative Lever.

The body of Alice Hopper, 16 years old, who has been missing since Saturday night from her home in Kearney, N. Y., was found in the Passaic river at Harrison, last night, her skirt weighted with stones. It is believed that she was murdered and her body cast into the river. The stones, weighing from 12 to 14 pounds, had been placed in the lap of her outer skirt, and the skirt drawn up to form a basket, the hem being knotted at the rear of her waist. Miss Hopper was an unusually pretty girl, and seemed older than her years. She left home at 8 o'clock Saturday night to mail several letters among them being invitations to a party she was about to give. That was the last her relatives saw of her.

Mauri I. Diggs, former state architect of California, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Van Fleet in the United States district court at San Francisco to serve two years in the State penitentiary at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $2,000 for violating the Mann white slave traffic act. F. Drew Caminetti was sentenced to 18 months at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $1,500 for a similar offense. Caminetti is the son of the United States Commissioner of Immigration. A ten day stay of execution was granted, and for that period Diggs was admitted to bail in $15,000 and Caminetti in $10,000, and meanwhile the defense will perfect an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals.

Three electric cars filled with passengers, while passing over a bridge yesterday evening near the village of Villeneuve-Loubet, between Grasse and Cannes, France, jumped the rails and fell 40 feet into a ravine. Twelve persons were killed and 40 injured.

One man was killed, three men were bound and gagged, and $2,000 in currency was stolen from a safe in a branch delivery station of Mandel Brothers, large department store owners of Chicago, yesterday. Four masked men accomplished the robbery after a desperate fight between the four employees of the station, and the robbers, Michael Waschuk, a wagon washer, was shot through the heart as he grappled with one of the bandits. The fight and the breaking of the iron safe was accomplished without attracting the attention of persons passing the place. The shot that killed Waschuk was not heard outside the building.

"Big Bill" Haywood, leading figure in the I. W. W. and a strike leader in many labor battles, has led his last fight according to eastern delegates who arrived at Chicago yesterday for the convention of the Industrial Workers of the World. Haywood is seriously ill at the home of a friend in New York city. He has lost 50 pounds by illness and is suffering from a nervous breakdown. His wife and children are in Denver in straitened circumstances, it was reported.

ALPINE CLIMBERS PERISH.

Their Bodies Found in a Crevasse on Pala Peak.

Pontresina, Switzerland, Sept. 18.—The bodies of four Alpine climbers, who had been missing since September 12, were found yesterday in a crevasse in the Pala Peak in the Upper Engadine near here.

They were said to be all experienced mountaineers, but were caught in a series of heavy snowstorms, which cost them their lives and also hindered the rescue parties in their search.

Mlle Bunzel, of this place, was one of the victims. The names of the others, also believed to be Swiss, were not ascertainable today.

Health Department An- nounces it is Prepared to Serve at Cost.

WITHIN REACH OF ALL.

State Authorities See No Reason why Preparation is Sold at High Price in Virginia.

Richmond, Sept. 18.—The complaint of a woman that she could not pay the price her druggist demanded for diphtheria antitoxin has convinced the State Board of Health that, despite the wide publicity given the sale of antitoxin at low rates, many do not understand that this great remedy can be had by all, rich and poor alike.

The woman in question went to the office of the board a few days ago and asked for advice. She had a child suffering from diphtheria, and she had been ordered to purchase antitoxin by her physician. Not knowing that the State dispensed it at minimum rates, she went to a druggist and found that the necessary antitoxin would cost $16. When told that this antitoxin, of the very first quality, could be had for about $4, the woman was overjoyed.

Following this incident, the board made a quiet investigation and found that for 13,000 units of antitoxin a druggist was asking $20.50, while the State sold the same amount for $5.36. "Many of our best druggists," says the weekly bulletin of the board, "are now selling antitoxin at low rates, and are co-operating with us in placing this great remedy in the hands of all who need it. The discovery, however, that the remedy is still being offered for sale at almost four times as much as the board charges for it, shows that many do not know of the existing arrangement.

"In our effort to place antitoxin within the range of all, we have had for four years an agreement with one of the leading manufacturers of antitoxin in this country. By the terms of this agreement, we send antitoxin of the best quality to all who ask for it at the minimum rate of 40 cents the thousand units, with 9 cents added for the cost of the syringe. The only limitation on the sale is that the person who ordered the antitoxin be responsible to the manufacturer for the purchase price.

"This antitoxin is not for sale to the poor only. Every citizen of Virginia, rich or poor, is entitled to as much as he needs at these low figures. Nor is there any prohibition on the purchase of this antitoxin by druggists. We are perfectly willing to send the antitoxin to druggists and to allow them to sell it to consumers at a reasonable advance in price.

Friedmann Patient Succumbs.

Newburgh, Sept. 18.—Notwithstanding the assurance by Dr. Friedmann, the German specialist, that his serum would cure the tubercular trouble of Edward N. Cox, a well-known Mason, Cox died here.

Cox was taken ill three years ago. He was among Dr. Friedmann's first patients. Friedmann said the disease was well advanced, but there was no fear that he would not pull the man through. For two months Cox had been falling.

Angered because of the filing of a divorce case, August Rodman, an Austrian, fired three shots at his wife, and then believing that he had killed her, put a bullet through his own brain, at Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday. The woman was but slightly wounded, and will recover. Rodman had been twice married and leaves a family of eight children.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Movement For Fire Alarm System Discussed—Unmuzzled and Un- licensed Dogs in City.

The committee of fire and police were invited to meet the board of police commissioners and discuss the proposed fire and police alarm system for the city by the latter body which held its regular monthly meeting last night.

A discussion of the subject showed that the system was greatly needed, and it was stated that the members of the various fire companies had determined to petition council to install the system at an early date.

The question of the number of unmuzzled and unlicensed dogs seen on the streets was brought up by Commissioner Lawler, and the Mayor reported that the Chief of Police had been instructed to bring all the owners of such dogs into court where they will be fined for the violation of the dog law.

The monthly report of Chief Goods showed that the affairs of the police department were in good condition.

SEGREGATION HELD VALID.

Judge Chichester Declares Ordinance of Ashland is Sound.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 18.—Ashland's segregation law has been held valid in every respect in the Circuit Court of Hanover county, Judge R. H. L. Chichester having handed down an opinion in the case of the town of Ashland against John Coleman.

Several months ago the town of Ashland enacted a segregation ordinance which is modeled after that in force in this city. Soon after it was put into operation a colored man, John Coleman, undertook to make his home outside the prescribed "colored" area. He was haled to court and the penalty of the law imposed. He then appealed, acting on the advice of his counsel, C. B. Jones, and the town employed James E. Cannon, of this city, to appear in behalf of the ordinance. In May last the case was argued before Judge Chichester. On Tuesday the opinion came down, and every contention of the defendant, Coleman, was denied, the ordinance being held valid in every way. The points relied on by Coleman for a reversal of the ordinance were that the town council was not vested with such powers as to enable it to pass such a measure, and that if such powers were contained in its charter, the enactment of such an ordinance was in contravention of the fourteenth amendment.

Judge Chichester holds that the town was well within its rights when it adopted the ordinance, and having adopted it, the same could be enforced, and that there was nothing in the ordinance running counter to the fourteenth amendment.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SCHMIDT'S CAREER

Police Declare he Had Long Criminal Experience in Europe.

FIND ANOTHER FLAT.

Alleged "Doctor" Aided Slayer— Clothes of Slain Girl and Unborn Baby Found.

New York, Sept. 18.—Two score detectives of the United States Secret Service and the New York police department, working on the cases of Hans Schmidt, self-confessed murderer of Anna Aumuller and "Dr." Ernest A. Mauret, accomplice of the priest in a counterfeiting plot, made reports last night which led officials directing the work to the following conclusions:

That Schmidt and Mauret, long before they left Europe, had formed a criminal partnership, and that not only since coming to the United States but long before each had knowledge of the criminal operations of the other, and that Schmidt far from being a lunatic, was one of the most cunning and heartless crooks in criminal history.

This conclusion was based on the following facts:

Among the possessions of Mauret in his flat at 801 St. Nicholas avenue, was found a photograph of himself taken in Mainz, Germany, during the time that Schmidt lived in that city.

From letters found in the St. Nicholas avenue flat of the pseudo dentist it was found that he is a fugitive from English justice, and that Scotland Yard detectives were trying two years ago to locate him, and presumably would still like to know of his whereabouts. The letters disclosing this fact were from Mauret's wife—he has posed in this country as an unmarried man. From the tenor of these letters it is believed that the charge against him was in connection with the illegal practice of medicine.

Other documents found in the Mauret flat indicate that he had traveled under several different names in many cities in two continents, and that in Chicago he was known as Dr. Arthur Held.

Schmidt was shown to have been not only a murderer, but in his priest guise, a counterfeiter, a sneak thief, and a man who, as priest, stole hundreds of dollars from letters sent by parishioners to his pastor.

SCHMIDT'S HISTORY.

Forced to Marry Girl in St. Joseph, Mo.

Dryden, Mich., Sept. 18.—Anna Aumuller, the woman the Rev. Hans Schmidt, admits he killed, was not the only girl who had been a dupe of the priest, according to a story told by F. P. Butler, of this city, formerly a reporter on the staff of the Spokane Press, Spokane, Wash. Butler said he met Schmidt in 1908 in that city after Schmidt had announced his intention of renouncing the Roman Catholic Church to join the Episcopal clergy.

According to Butler, Schmidt had been driven out of the Benedictine Order in Germany, but after doing penance had been admitted to the secular priesthood and had been given a parish in St. Joseph, Mo., where he met the girl he afterward married. His relations with the girl were discovered and his parishioners drove him from the church, and he was forced to marry the girl in a civil ceremony. Later he went to the coast.

The same year Schmidt declared his intention of joining the Episcopal priesthood Butler says he was sent to interview Schmidt. He found the priest in his knees in a poorly furnished room, repeating his rosary. When Butler told his errand, he says, the priest broke into tears and told him his life story.

The girl was at this time a nurse in a Catholic Hospital in Spokane. Butler identifies the slayer of Anna Aumuller as the "Spokane priest" in pictures in the newspapers.

PLATFORM GIVES WAY.

Fifteen School Children Hurt in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 18.—A collapsible platform 16 feet above the ground, on which 731 pupils of the Poughkeepsie High School were grouped for a photograph, gave way shortly after noon yesterday. Fifteen pupils were injured and 12 of them were taken to the Vassar Hospital, most of them suffering from fractured arms and legs.

The platform on which they were standing was 40 feet long and had been erected an hour previously alongside the wall of the building. The entire school body had been grouped by Superintendent of Schools Shear and Schuyler Fox, superintendent of the High School, and were looking directly at the camera when the crash came. Shear and Fox were standing beside the photographer.

The platform folded up like a jack knife half closed, the middle portion sagging to the ground and the ends remaining in their original position. Into the rude V thus formed the 731 children were hurled.

Messrs. Shear and Fox, aided by the staff of teachers directed the work of rescue. An examination of the platform showed that none of the timbers had broken, but that the bolts used to hold them in place, apparently too weak for the unusual strain, had yielded. None of those hurt are likely to die from their injuries.

FATE OF A RUSSIAN COUNT.

J. J. Schneicki Dies in a Cow Stable at Chester.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 18.—John Joseph Schneicki, said to have been a member of the nobility of Russia, died in a cow stable here Tuesday. He came to this city 35 years ago, and had since lived under the name of Joseph Salomon. According to Joseph Koloski, who was his lifelong friend, Schneicki was the youngest son of Baron Ladislav Schneicki, who owned large estates along the Volga river in Russia, and was exiled from his native land in 1878. Koloski, who is a naturalized American citizen, said that "Count Schneicki" had three times returned to Russia, but each time he was driven back and finally had decided to remain in America.

For a time the "Count" had received large remittances, but of late years they had been very small, and upon several occasions Schneicki had been in dire financial straits, finally dying, it was said, from tuberculosis brought on by exposure and starvation. He was 72 years old.

BURGLARIES PUT AT $200,000.

Residents of Millionaires' Row, New York, Estimate Summer Losses.

New York, Sept. 18.—Residents of "Millionaires' Row," on Seventy-ninth and Eightieth streets, just east of Central Park, estimated today that burglaries during the summer had cost them $200,000.

The latest robbery occurred yesterday at the home of Mrs. Karl Wallach. Mrs. Wallach's son said that the thieves had taken silverware, jewelry, furs and household goods worth $100,000.

The Wallach thieves entered the residence through a skylight in the roof and cleaned out the house in a leisurely and painstaking fashion. In one of the bedrooms they established a small smelting furnace in which they melted down the silverware to convenient ingots. They left the improvised furnace behind them.

Among the lost valuables Mr. Wallach catalogued furs worth $20,000, a painting valued at $3,500 and two chests of silver.

BATTLE FOR OFFICE.

Facing Indictments For High Crimes and Misdemeanors—Both Sides are Confident.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 18.—William Sulzer, elected governor of the state of New York, went on trial here today. In the Senate chamber Sulzer, charged by the assembly, with "high crimes and misdemeanors," prepared to defend his plea of innocence. His judges are the judges of the court of appeals and members of the senate. It requires a two-thirds vote of the joint assemblage to convict. The charges to which a plea of not guilty has been interposed are as follows:

That William Sulzer filed with the Secretary of State a false statement of his campaign receipts, expenditures, disbursements, and liabilities.

That he was guilty of perjury in stating under oath that his statement of his campaign receipts, expenditures, disbursements, and liabilities was correct.

That he was guilty of bribing witnesses to withhold testimony from the legislative committee which investigated his campaign expenditures and receipts.

That he was guilty of suppressing evidence in using threats to keep witnesses from testifying before the legislative committee.

That he was guilty of suppressing and dissuading a witness, Frederick L. Colwell, from attending under subpoena the sessions of the legislative committee.

That he used money and checks contributed to his pre-election campaign to speculate in stocks, and that he was thereby guilty of larceny.

That as governor, he threatened to use his office and influence for the purpose of affecting the vote or political action of certain public officers.

That, while governor, he corruptly used his authority or influence to affect the current prices of securities listed and selling on the New York Stock Exchange, in some of which securities he was at the time interested.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Little Girl Killed and Another Se- riously Injured.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18.—Grace Rose, 8 years old, was killed and Gertrude Fleish, 7, was badly injured last night when a pushmobile upon which they were riding ran between the front and rear trucks of a trolley car between thirteenth and Broad streets on Maymensing Avenue.

While William Gerhart, the motorman of the car, applied the brakes and did everything possible to bring the car to a standstill, the pushmobile bearing the two children darted between the trucks. The children were dragged a distance of 50 feet before the car stopped, and, unable to release them, the wrecking crew of the Rapid Transit Company was summoned.

The body of the Rose child was so tightly wedged between the rear trucks that it was necessary to jack the car up before it could be released. While the wrecking crew was at work a crowd of more than 300 men and women assembled about the car and threatened the motorman and conductor. Policeman Holleran forced the crowd back at the point of a pistol, and after sending the body of the Rose child and Gertrude Fleish to a hospital, he arrested the trolley crew.

The chronic question whether or not certain persons can sell liquor from boats or arks in the Potomac on the confines of Alexandria was again before the Police Court yesterday evening.

John Arrington, who operates an ark which had been towed opposite Jones's Point on Sunday mornings and from which liquor has been dispensed, was the defendant in the case. He had been arrested at an early hour last Sunday morning and the stock of spirituous and malt liquors in the ark seized. He was represented by R. D. Brumback and from the Commonwealth's Attorney S. G. Brent conducted the prosecution. The warrant under which Arrington was arraigned virtually charged him with maintaining a nuisance by selling liquor on Sundays.

A number of witnesses were examined and the fact was established that liquor had been sold on the ark, which was fitted up with barroom fixtures, and that persons were transported to and from the ark gratis. It was also shown that the beer disposed of in the floating bar was procured in Alexandria.

While people residing in the southeastern section of the city who were put on the stand admitted that parties under the influence of liquor passed and repassed their homes on Sundays, none could say positively that the liquor from which such individuals were suffering had been procured on the ark.

Mr. Brumback, after all witnesses had been examined, moved that the charge against his client be dismissed, as he alleged the Commonwealth had failed to prove that Arrington had committed a nuisance nor was he maintaining one.

Mr. Brent said the alleged nuisance had had its inception in the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth of Virginia, as the ark had been stocked here by a resident of this city, and that several witnesses had testified that they had procured liquor in the ark on Sundays. He read to show that by the terms of the compact between Maryland and Virginia each state had concurrent jurisdiction in dealing with offenses committed by people of their own states.

The court took the ground that the state had a right to take action in such a case and that the law was quoted by the Commonwealth's Attorney empowered the Police Court to sit in judgment upon the case; also that the state could act in the case of nuisances maintained by people of the Commonwealth under such conditions as had been presented to the court. A fine of $50 was thereupon imposed upon Arrington and in addition he entered into bond in the sum of $100 for his good behavior during the next twelve months, his personal recognizance having been taken in the same. Arrington announced through his counsel that he would appeal the case to the Corporation Court and entered into bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance before that tribunal, Leroy Beach, Jr., becoming his surety.

Officers Garvey and Miller Arrest a Fruit Dealer and Recover Five

A Washingtonian came to this city this morning in search of a bicycle which he claims had been stolen from him, and later located the missing wheel in a repair shop on King street. He notified the police department and Officer Garvey proceeded to the repair shop with a young man named Thomas Rich, who had brought it to the shop for repair and who claimed to be the owner. The latter stated that he purchased the bicycle from William Moore, at resident of West End.

When Officer Garvey proceeded to take charge of the wheel one of the proprietors of the shop attempted to stop him by alleging that fifteen cents was owing upon it for some minor repair. The officer, after assuring him that the claim would be settled, took the bicycle to the station house. Officer Garvey then proceeded to West End in search of Moore, who Rich alleges sold the wheel to him.

Officer Garvey, after some time, found Moore, who is a boy, when it was learned from the boy that he had sold the wheel to Rich for $3, but that he was acting as agent for a fruit dealer named Fiermonte, who conducts a store on upper King street. Later Officers Garvey and Miller proceeded to Fiermonte's store, where they found four bicycles. They took charge of the wheels and arrested Fiermonte. One wheel alleged to have been in Fiermonte's possession is missing, but the officers later found it.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

IN THIRD ENCOUNTER.

Boilermaker Seriously Hurt by Discharge of Gun

East Radford, Va., Sept. 18.—Editor Wise Worrel, of the Radford Record recently experienced his third fistcuff since he has been editor of that paper, when Mike Loftis a boilermaker, employed by the Norfolk and Western Railway at this place took offense at an article concerning an ardent prohibitionist giving away beer in his poolroom in this a prohibition town.

After a few words concerning the article, the two men went together, and had to be separated by friends. Neither was seriously hurt.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock Loftis was seriously, and perhaps fatally, injured by the accidental discharge of a shotgun, which he was carrying while out on a walk near here. In some unaccountable way the gun went off, striking the injured man in the left shoulder, breaking his collarbone and causing other injuries. He was rushed to a Roanoke Hospital.

CHURCH WINS COLLEGE SUIT.

Randolph-Macon To Remain in Control of Southern Methodists.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 18.—Judge Chichester handed down an opinion Tuesday which will put an end to the dispute relative to the management of Randolph-Macon College. He held that the arrangement, contemplated by the board of trustees whereby Randolph-Macon College will be kept specifically denominational and under the control of the Methodist Church is a perfectly valid exercise of power. The injunction prayed for by E. D. Newman and others, minority members of the board, was dismissed.

A preliminary injunction was awarded by Judge Scott on ex parte application of the plaintiffs, and in May the case came up before Judge Chichester on a motion to dissolve the injunction and dismiss the bill of complaint. The case was argued at length, and as the record was voluminous, the intervening time was consumed by the Court in reaching a decision.

More than 180,000 Methodists are interested in the decision. A resolution, upheld by the Court, gives the power to the Baltimore and Virginia Conferences to fill vacancies on the board of directors.

FORTUNE-TELLERS MUST GO.

Richmond Council Finance Committee Puts License of $50 a Week on Fakery.

Richmond, Sept. 18.—Clairvoyants clairaudients, fortune-tellers, palmists, crystal gazers and other folk who turn a nimble penny by telling the past present, future and future perfect of romantic maidens, are dealt a body blow by the Council Finance Committee, which has unanimously recommended an ordinance taxing these prophetic pursuits $50 a week. The measure was introduced by Councilman George W. Rogers, of Jefferson Ward, and proposes to tax these people so heavily that they will find it unprofitable to operate in Richmond.

The city at present imposes no tax on practitioners of the art prophetic. Fat ladies in impressionistic kimonos sit in tents and shacks that dot the city's principal thoroughfares, and amiably separate those who would look into the future from their loose change. Palmists flourish in the residential districts, describing at 50 cents a throw with more or less accuracy, one's husband or wife-to-be, or one's chances of landing a job, with democratic indifference.

MURDER TRIALS.

Killing of Engineer at Petersburg and Operators at Scottsville.

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 18.—The September term of the hustings court will begin today, with quite a large commonwealth's docket, the accumulation of cases for two months. Probably the most interesting case on the docket is that of Waverly Blanks, charged with the killing of George W. Nunnally on the night of June 27. Nunnally was an engineer on the Norfolk and Western Railway, and Blanks was a fireman, frequently working with Nunnally. The two men had long been close friends. The shooting occurred in Nunnally's room in a boarding house in Grove avenue. With no eye witnesses, Nunnally was shot in his bed and Blanks has always claimed that he was shot by Nunnally. Both men were shot with Nunnally's pistol. The tragedy is alleged to have been caused by remarks by Nunnally concerning the Blanks' family.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 18.—Louis L. Jackson, the young man held in Henrico county jail on suspicion of having murdered R. W. Harrison, the Chesapeake and Ohio telegraph operator at Scottsville, Va., several weeks ago, will be taken to that place today for a preliminary hearing and will be rushed back to Richmond as soon as possible thereafter in the event he is held for grand jury action. Jackson has been in the Henrico jail for safe keeping since his arrest near Scottsville. Authorities in charge of the investigation say that among Jackson's possessions was found a bullet-proof vest and also a detective badge, indicating that he was wont to pose as a sleuth. Harrison was mysteriously shot to death while at his post of duty one night and it is believed that robbery was the motive behind the crime, although the murderer escaped without any booty.

WHITE SLAVERY TRIAL OPENS.

Negro Accused of Bringing Woman to Cavalry Camp.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 18.—The trial of Sam Franklin, alias Sam Franklin Ware, a negro, for alleged violation of the White Slave Traffic act in bringing Irene Whalen, white, from New York to the cavalry camp, near Winchester, Va., late in July, was commenced in the Federal District Court yesterday. When court adjourned the Government had not completed its evidence.

When Irene Whalen was put on the stand Judge McDowell cleared the court room. Numerous letters written by the negro to the Whalen woman were offered in evidence. Following the completion of this case Franklin is to be tried under an indictment charging him with sending obscene matter through the mails.

GIRL'S BODY TAKEN HOME.

Coroner's Jury Still Investigating the Death of Miss Givens.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 18.—The body of Miss Elsie C. Givens, the Potomac county school teacher, who died under mysterious circumstances at 315 Luck avenue about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, was taken to Barbours Creek, Craig county, at noon today for interment near her old home. A brother and other relatives of the dead girl accompanied the body.

Not until yesterday morning was permission given by the coroner for removal of the body from the undertaking rooms where it had lain since Sunday noon when ordered there from the place where Miss Givens died in convulsions in a room with persons who swear she was a stranger to them until Saturday evening.

So far as can be learned today the case rests with the coroner's jury, no verdict having been arrived at as a result of Tuesday evening's inquest. It is believed the inquirers are awaiting possible results from further investigation of stories told by persons who were with Miss Givens prior to and at the time of her death.

$25 FOR EACH DRUNK.

That is the Tax Set by Recorder Burrow in Bristol.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 18.—In the absence of Recorder Burrow, who is attending the National Conservation Exposition, Magistrate Swan, who was asked to try cases in the police court, has set a precedent as to the amount to fine persons convicted of drunkenness. Recorder Burrow had an invariable rule to tax drunks $25 each.

NOT COMING TO NORFOLK.

Mrs. Pankhurst Seems to be Person Non Grata in the City by the Sea.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes of England, who has served a term in jail in London for destroying private property, and who is now on her way to this country to lecture for the cause, will not visit Norfolk under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage League. Mrs. B. B. Valentine, of Richmond, State president of the organization, has put her foot down on the proposition to have Mrs. Pankhurst lecture in Norfolk, and Mrs. Valentine's disapproval of the proposed visit will be regarded.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Louis Manghetti Thrown as Car Capsize, Breaks His Neck.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 18.—Louis Manghetti, the Italian automobile driver, who won the speed championship of South America, in 1909, 1910, and 1911, was instantly killed here yesterday in the second race of the Norfolk fall festival meet. Manghetti's car capsize on a curve, throwing him headlong to the outside of the track, breaking his neck.

It was a "pursuit" race in which only one other man was entered. Manghetti, who was known as "Mad" Louis, on three continents because of his daring, was swinging around the half mile track at terrific speed when the accident occurred. He was 32 years old. His wife lives in Richmond, Va.

Entered at the Postoffice of Alexandria, Virginia as second-class matter.

VIRGINIA IS URGED TO ACT.

"Official reports just made by the army engineers show that the fisheries industry of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries is doomed to destruction unless the Federal Government and the States of Virginia and Maryland can and do provide effective means for the protection of the fish by the rigid enforcement of existing laws and the enactment of such additional legislation as may be deemed necessary in the premises," says the Newport News Press.

"The reports to which reference is here made sets forth that the fishing industry is being ruined because of the enormous catches made for the fertilizer factories. The engineers say that a little investigation will show that the decrease of fish in the Chesapeake Bay is 'due to the excessive seining and destruction of fish by the fertilizer factories,' and that the only remedy is a law which will prevent the taking of fish from the waters of Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries for other purposes than food and prohibiting their use as fertilizer.

"Virginia must protect the fisheries industry. This industry is worth millions a year to the people of this State. Fish form a good and substantial food at a low price, and it is utter folly to see the supply exhausted by the fertilizer factories. It is not necessary to use the fish for that purpose and the recommendations of the army engineers should be carried out.

"Newport News is particularly interested in this question just now because it has hopes of a big traffic in fish through its proposed small boat harbor, and if the supply is to be exhausted, this city will be the loser.

"Virginia, Maryland and the Federal Government should get together on this matter and conduct an investigation looking to the framing of such laws for both States as shall be deemed adequate to protect the fish industry. The Federal Government can protect the industry only to the point of preventing the placing of seines in rivers so that they will be a hindrance to navigation, but that is not enough protection.

"The wholesale seining of the fish must be stopped, just as it was necessary to stop the wholesale dredging of oysters on the public rocks. If the fish are to be caught by the wholesale as they go up the rivers of the State to spawn, it necessarily follows that it is only a question of a few years before the supply in this State will be depleted."

Alexandria is vitally interested in the preservation of fish in the Potomac. The catch grows smaller every year, but few shad and herring being brought to this port.

KILLED BY ANGRY HUSBAND.

Man Found Embracing Another's
Wife Declares He Intended No Harm.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 18.—Joseph Stout, the oil wagon driver, who was shot by Dr. C. M. Clayton last Monday when he alleges he found him at his home embracing Mrs. Clayton, died at a local hospital early yesterday. Dr. Clayton, who had been released on $300 bond, was re-arrested on a charge of murder and held with out bail.

Stout, in a statement to the police just before he died denied that he was kissing Mrs. Clayton. He said he went to the Clayton home as he had done twice a week for three months to collect an oil bill for $11.05, and that Mrs. Clayton, as he thought, jokingly threw up her hands to "shoo" him out of the house, and that he in the same spirit caught her hands. At this juncture, he said, Dr. Clayton appeared at his home and shot him.

Mrs. Clayton again collapsed when her husband was again taken in charge and is said to be in a serious condition. She is also held under bond on a charge of loitering.

POWER OF SIXTEEN MEN.

Statistical Experts Says That Number Control Nine Railroads.

New York, Sept. 18.—Prof. Frank J. Warne, statistical expert for the conductors and trainmen in the arbitration hearings, declared yesterday that sixteen men, as interlocking directors, controlled the policies of nine large railway systems.

"Give me the minutes of their board meetings, and I will prove it," said Dr. Warne.

The four leaders of these systems were the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Haven Railroads, the witness said.

Among the interlocking directors named were J. P. Morgan, George F.
Baker, William Rockefeller, W. K.
Vanderbilt, Jr., and Norman B. Ream.
These and other prominent financiers
—20 in all—served as 171 directors in the nine systems, according to the witness.

W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, and one of the arbitrators, protested against the deductions of Dr. Warne.

GUilty OF ASSAULT.

Tried at Elliott City for Attacking
16-Year-Old Girl.

Elliott City, Md., Sept. 18.—The trial of John C. Fulton, charged with criminal assault on Ma'tissa Filmore, of Savage, took place here yesterday.
The jury found him guilty of common assault.

Miss Filmore testified that Fulton met her on the Washington Boul-levard near Savage on May 15 and threw her into his buggy. She said he drove to a wood near Waterloo, where the assault took place, and threatened to kill her if she told about it. She said she learned his name from his railroad pass, which fell from his pocket.

Fulton said he met the girl on the road and that she got into the buggy of her own accord, and that she drove about with him for a while and then went home. He denied having a pistol, as alleged by Miss Filmore.

The jury was unable to agree upon a recommendation of mercy to the court.

Killed by Train.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 18.—Information was received here today of the tragic death of Eustace Bruce, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce, of 306 N.
5th street, in Amelia county.

Mr. Bruce, who was about twenty-four years old, left here last night, after telling the family good bye, and boarded a train. Details are meagre, but it is thought that the young man fell under the wheels of the train.

Mr. Bruce was well known about picture-show houses, where he was employed. He was a good pianist.

Leaves Money to Church.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 18.—By the ated here yesterday, Mount Heber keep his lot there in repair, and $3, 500 is left to his favorite fire organization, the Charley Rouss Fire Company, while $10,000 is given to the Methodist Episcopal Church, erstown, Md., is given $10,000, and among other friends he divides an estate valued at $60,000.

SMALLEST BEAST OF PREY.

It is a True Weasel, but is Only About Six Inches Long.

The smallest carnivorous animal in the world is an American weasel which is numerous in northwest Canada and Alaska and is occasionally seen about the great lakes. It is a true weasel, but only six inches long, with a tail only one inch in length. All its upper surface is in summer pure amber brown, but the throat, abdomen and inside of the legs are pure white, and, unlike any other weasel, it has no black at the end of the tail; hence, although the animal turns white in the north in winter, it does not show the black tipped tail which characterizes an ermine pelt, and so it is not sought by trappers and fur traders.

This fact, with its small size and secretive life, has made its habits very little known, but they seem to be much like those of other weasels. It feeds on insects, which it finds alive in summer and in winter digs out of rotten logs; upon small birds, etc., but lives mainly on mice. These it can follow into their narrowest holes and runways, for it is scarcely larger than a field mouse itself, or, striking the trail of one, it will trace all its wanderings and as soon as it catches sight of its prey will spring after it with amazing and fatal rapidity.

It is frequently caught by naturalists in their mouse traps. An old Indian told W. H. Osgood of the biological survey, who thus captured one in southern Alaska, that it was a promise of rare good fortune. His brother, he related, had taken one when a boy and had in consequence become a big chief. A good name for this least of the carnivores would be "mouse hunter." It is known to science as Putorius rixosus.—Harper's.

Rye Pasture For Pigs.

For fall litters there is nothing quite equal to a patch of rye. On the rye they and their dams will be healthy and grow fast. In an open winter or where the ground is not covered with snow the rye field will furnish almost ideal green feed for the pigs at weaning time. Where green feed is not provided it too often happens that little or no growth is secured on fall pigs. In that case the profit is lacking, as a small amount of growth will not be sufficient even to pay for the feed that has been eaten. A patch of green, luscious rye will change all that and make the profit where otherwise there would be loss.—Farm Progress.

Winter Protection of Trees.

Mulching in spring and summer is very valuable for transplanted trees, but is dangerous in winter, as the straw furnishes a hiding place for the ground mice, which would ruin the trees by eating the bark. The white protection of the young trees should be the mound of earth, a foot or a high and eighteen inches in diameter.—National Stockman and Farmer.

The Value of Drainage.

Drainage removes the surplus water. Improves the character of the soil, makes the available supply of water more abundant, warms the soil and increases its available food supply, aerates it, prevents erosion and heaving and increases plant growth.

PREACHER GIVES DANCE.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 18.—Any because they could not tango a "turkey trot," a crowd of seven hundred dancers at the Model Dance Pavilion, conducted by Rev. George B. Gilbert, at Lake View Park, started a small-sized riot Tuesday night which finally ended in a call for local police.

Decorations were torn down at furnishings broken by the crowd. Finally the feed wire lighting the hall was put out of service.

Mr. Gilbert, who is a well-known Episcopal clergyman, opened the dance hall as an experiment early this summer, hoping to counteract the evil effect of the other dance halls, where no restrictions were placed on the dancers. This is the first time that he has experienced any trouble, but he announced that there would be no more dances at his hall.

Giving Your Child a Book.
"What kind of a book shall I bring you?" a small girl was questioned the other day.

"Oh, any book," came the reply with a happy nonchalance, "as long as it can be my very own and stay up in my room."

She voiced the craving of every child, says Carolyn Sherwin Bailey in the De-linestor. Your child needs his very own "five foot" bookshelf which he may grow up with and which will meet the needs of his developing and expanding imagination. But each book that we put on this nursery bookshelf should be selected having in mind what it is going to do for the child.

Will it frighten him? Will it hurt his appreciation of beauty by its rude colors and poor art? Will it give him warped, twisted ideas of his world?

Rather, will the book that you put into your child's hands make him happy? Will its illustrations help him to love good pictures? Will it teach him something?

If a child can have only four books it will be possible to give him between the covers of these four all that he needs in child literature during his earlier years.

One book should be very beautiful pictorially. Every baby loves color, and a good colored picture of one of his Mother Goose friends, his pet animals, his toys, will be a feast for his soul almost. He should be taught care in handling it, and turning its beautiful pages will be his happy privilege.

One book will answer the queries of our dear little "question mark." It should furnish material to be read to the child to help him understand his environment. Every child is wonderfully, buoyantly interested in animals and stars and trees and waters and the land of little creatures down under his feet. Too often we let his questions in regard to nature phenomena pass unheeded. Let us give him a book that will answer them.

Our third book will be a big, magical collection of child stories—those stories that take a child out of himself and into the places of fancy, stories that make children brave, happy, unselfish, good.

One more book, a doing one. It will be perhaps a mother's book than the child's, for it will give hints and helps for keeping small hands active, child eyes wider open, child brains busy. It will be a book of games, of suggestions for child hand work, a book of child busy-ness.

With these four books or many books of each of these four classes a child will begin his home education in an efficient, result making way.

Rules For Rearing Babies.

Rules for rearing babies, accompanied by the statement that children are not to be regarded as luxuries by the poor, were given out recently by Mrs. George Herrick of Boston, who four months ago became the mother of a boy declared by a number of eugenic authorities to be the finest physical specimen that has come within their experience. Mrs. Herrick's directions are as follows:

"Three essentials are fresh air, light clothing and plenty of good nourishment.

"Society women should forego society's obligations and nurse their own children.

"Every mother should nurse her own child.

"Kissing and fondling of baby should not be permitted for one minute.

"Don't toss baby up in the air like a bouncing ball.

"One great secret of household economy is making your own and your children's clothing.

"Race suicide is the greatest evil of the day.

"The father contributes as much to the health or ill health of a child as the mother."

The Toys of 1913.

Modern toys for children are marvels of ingenuity. The latest is a model yacht about three feet long which runs by electricity with a motor and storage battery with a speed of 188 feet per minute. The motor is reversible, and it is steered from the wheel on the bridge. There are searchlights and running lights, which are operated by a switch. Naturally there are no sails and only one deck. There are two little lifeboats, and on the deck a small velvet seat with three miniature chairs and three wee cushions lend a suggestion of realism. A moving picture machine for home use, sold with an arrangement with the store to exchange the films, is another source of unlimited delight to the active child.

Comfort For Baby.

Elderdown fannel booties for the baby are excellent for very cold weather. They are silk lined with pink or blue and ornamented with a small design in ribbon work. They are hand made and are washable. Booties for the baby may also be had now made of corduroy, but either of these kinds should be exchanged for something of a lighter weight in a warm room or on mild days. A hot water bottle for the baby to hold and play with, so that its hands may be kept warm, is dressed as a rabbit doll called "Peter Rabbit." It holds one pint of hot water and is priced at $1.

PROPOSALS FOR SUPPLIES.

Sealed proposals for furnishing the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Fredericksburg, Va., for the quarter beginning October 10th, 1913, and ending January 10, 1914, will be received at the office of the president of the school until 8 P. M., October 1st.

Contract for this item will be awarded for three or twelve months at the discretion of the school.
